Winding up August: a Cruise-In and a Hot-Dog Feed

Everything that could be done in advance is done.

Registrations from the website are strong.

So many individuals and businesses have sponsored awards and donated raffle prizes that we (seriously) had to streamline procedures so we'll have time to give them all away.

We mapped out the site so we could avoid the rough ground, and the layout will be entirely different this year.

We have confirmed that Clackamas Community College students will be cooking hot dogs and helping us park cars again this year. (They were popular last year.)

We have already secured hefty donations designated for scholarship help for Automotive Technology students and Clackamas Community College, and we'll be committing a portion of our gross receipts to the fund.

We're having a work party at the site on Friday August 19, getting the a headstart on set-up. The reason CPPC has a reputation for friendly and well-organized events is that we tend to be prepared, and we know what we're doing. (The Wheats and the Lapins will Here's what we looked like at last year's Hot Dog Ust Day. We're ready to do it again, Saturday, August 20, starting 9:00AM at Clackamas Community College in Oregon City, be on-site in their trailers overnight, to provide security.) There will be.

We anticipate hot weather, and we're asking members to bring canopies or shelters when they come. The more shade we have, the better!

The August 23 meeting is our Hot Dog Feed, and we're inviting everybody!

Come One, Come ALL!!! August 23, is the Hot Dog-ust Night event at the regular membership meeting. Dinner will start at 6:30 pm. The club will provide the dogs, potato salad, fruit, chips and drinks.

Members whose last names begin with A-O, please bring a side dish. If you're in the P-Z range, please bring a dessert.

BINGO will be the night's entertainment, and the club is providing cash for the winners.

At June's meeting, we talked about including friends, extended family, students, other car clubs, neighbors, and anyone else we can involve in our celebration of the old car hobby.

Please bring someone extra!

We had a lot of bottled water donated, and we'll be giving it away all day as things heat up.

There's nothing left to do but come out to Clackamas Community College on Saturday morning for another Hot Dog-Ust Day. Buy some raffle tickets, have some fun, and help our club support our community!

Newsletter wins OCW's Golden Quill award

The Steering Column, A Message from the President

Greetings All,

This summer seems to be flying by and all we can do is hold on. Hope everyone has been out driving his or her cars and that you plan to drive over to our car show at Clackamas Community College on August 20th. I would like to send out big kudos to Joanne Dixon and Donna Bade for their record-breaking sponsorships and raffle prizes. They have also compiled great items for the goody bags. We have 62 sponsors and 281 raffle prizes...holy smokes.

On a personal note, I got my 4-door '39 Plymouth back from the sand blaster and was very happy with the results. The company was Marion Ag Service in St. Paul, OR. They sand blasted my complete car and parts, and primed everything. My cost was $1460, which was about $600 below their estimate. Now, once the car show is over, I can order some sheet metal parts and hopefully replace the rusted areas uncovered by the sand blasting.

See you at the car show and don't forget our meeting night – Hot Dog-Ust Nite on August 23rd. Bring your friends, family and cars for a great night of food, kicking tires, Bingo and Heads & Tails. This year we are awarding $25 prizes for five Bingo games and one Heads & Tails game. Our very own Tim McCarthy will provide music for your listening pleasure.

Let the good times roll.

Randy

It's not just for car shows: summer is a good time to work on our cars

By Robin Will

A lot of work is getting done on CPPC member cars this summer. Summertime work is a good idea for lots of reasons – the days seem longer, the light is better, your fingers don't freeze to the tools, and if you finish, there are events to drive to. Beats heck out of working in the dead of winter.

Phil Lapin took the wheels off of the Patina Princess, the 1942 Plymouth he and Jean bought from CPPC, and got them powder-coated. Phil says the wheels may be dropped at any Les Schwab store. They're sent to Prineville where [allegedly] robots do the work, and a week later you get your wheels back, looking good. There are many colors to choose from. Phil paid $30.40 per wheel. A set of new-to-him 215/70/15 radial tires, with spare, including balancing, set him back another

Ott's Friction Supply is now FleetPride Truck & Trailer Parts

By Bob Westphal

I needed to have some brake shoes relined so I called Ott's Friction Supply. When I took the shoes in to Ott's, I found that they have changed their name. Ott's is now FleetPride Truck and Trailer Parts. They are still offering brake and clutch relining services but were sold to a large truck parts organization.

Don Hufschmid reminds CPPC members that he is available to help with DMV paperwork. Give him a call if you have a question about your car's documentation.

er $295 from Bob the Tire Guy in Sandy.

Gary Rusher has the engine back in his '30 U coupe, and fully intends to drive the car to our Hot Dog-Ust Day Cruise-In on Saturday August 20.

Mike Bade found a 1937 Borg-Warner overdrive unit for his 1935 Plymouth convertible, and is in the process of getting it installed. Given Mike's knack for documenting work with photographs, this might turn into another how-to article on CPPC's website. In the meantime he reports that a friend of Doug Crawford's fabricated a bracket that makes it possible to use the '35's original handbrake (that's what's in the picture below) and as soon as he solves some issues with the length of the input shaft for the overdrive, the assembly will go back in the car. It will be a relief to boost the cruising speed to contemporary levels.

gine on EBay for $5,000 – remember when we bought them for cheap out of the Sears catalog? What's remarkable isn't the price so much as the photos that came with the ad: the seller took the nice, clean engine out in the sun and created high-res photos from all angles.

Anybody who has ever tried to do serious work without pulling the engine is likely to appreciate these pictures. If you've ever wondered exactly where that freeze plug is in the back of the engine, or any of the other features that aren't visible from the top, these pictures are what you need.

Phil did some nice screen-grab work, and now we have the pictures, too. I'll put them on our website's Tech Committee page the next time I upgrade our website, so folks may use (or download) them for reference.

Don't forget Beaches on September 21!

There won't be another newsletter out before it happens, so this is notice that CPPC is once again featured club for the next-to-last Wednesday in September at Beaches-PIR, the enormous cruise-in next to the drag strips at Portland International Raceway. We park on the grass, in the shade, right in the middle of the event, and, traditionally, we invite every Plymouth that shows up to park with us, member or not. After putting on our own big show in August, this is a nice chance to simply show up, park the car, and let somebody else manage the event – and we usually attract some new club members. Jerry and Joanne Dixon host, and will be sending out email blasts with specifics as the time draws near.

Dayton turns out for Old-Timers' Festival; Robersons' All-Mopar show dazzles as usual

Saturday, July 23, was the date of Roberson's All-Mopar Cruise-In in Salem this year, and as usual, the big boys came out to play such as the Plymouth Superbird above, which you probably won't see at your local cars-n-coffee event. Also at Robersons' was this exquisite silver-and-gray sedan delivery (it's a pity we can't print in color!). Dixons' '67 Barracuda and Bades' 1930 Plymouth hot-rod both placed in their classes. In Dayton it appears the entire town turns out for Friday nights in the park that serves as the town square, and the Old Timers Festival on July 29th drew the Ealys, the Bades, and the Byrnes. Photos are by Mike Bade.

Mt. Angel's Oktoberfest is on Mayflowers' agenda

Mayflower's will visit Oktoberfest in Mt. Angel, Thursday September 15th, 2016.

Mt. Angel, a community of about 3,300, is about 35 miles south and west of Clackamas. The town celebrates its German heritage in the autumn with with this traditional harvest-home event, featuring food, music, and beer.

It should be nice weather, good food, and a lot of fun!

We will meet at 10:50AM in the St. Mary's Church parking lot – 575 E. College St. Mt. Angel.

The website with driving directions and the daily schedule is: Oktoberfest.org

If you would like to participate, or have questions, please email Mindy Benfield at Ben1323@aol.com or call her. Her phone number is in the roster.

BODY SHOP & REPAIRS

Joanne Dixon is CPPC's Member Care contact. Please keep her updated about members who need cards, letters, e-mails or phone calls.

Contact Joanne at 360-608-6171 or jojoes@outlook.com.

Vera Rusher continues to improve a little bit each day. After four days at Meridian Park Hospital, Vera was transferred to Marquis Rehab in Tualatin. She will possibly be transferred next to the Rehabilitation Institute of Oregon at Good Sam on Monday, August 15th. Gary reports she has been there before and will be in a very intensive rehab program.

Yvonne Westphal had left eye cataract surgery on August 4th. This time, however, she turned very black and blue in the eye area but despite that reaction, she is doing good.

Brother-in-law to Lloyd Schulz, Scott Dunlap passed away peacefully on Thursday, July 28th. Lloyd has been a friend to Scott for over 23 years and a live in caregiver for 14 years. Scott always enjoyed the friendship of CPPC and had a smile for everyone.
